

Society Chat of the Week

EASTER WEEK IN SOCIETY JOYOUS

Social elect emerge from comparative quiet of Lenten season and participate in gay round of festivities.

An unusually number of beautiful gowns were displayed at the dinner dance Friday evening, when society gathered for the "slades night" that was given on that evening by the members of the Pacific Club. The decorations of the club house were simple but effective, being an arrangement of palms and bamboo, in the ball room that served to set off the beautiful costumes. Most of the young girls and matrons had new gowns for this function; seldom has there been a more dazzling array of chiffons, satins, brocades and jewels as on this occasion. The success of the affair was due mainly to the efforts of Mr. Harry Macfarlane, who was chairman of the entertainment committee. Prior to the ball, a number of dinners were given, although the dining room of the club is large, so many members entertained that it was found necessary to utilize the verandas, that are connected with the main dining hall by French windows. An excellent dinner was served at half past seven o'clock. Kaul's Hawaiian orchestra was stationed in a hallway that was in close proximity to the dining room; excellent music added to the enjoyment of the affair. General and Mrs. Macomber dined a party of ten; among their guests were Captain and Mrs. Carter, Major Stinson, Captain and Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Bernice Walbridge, Miss Claire Kelley and Mr. Parke were the guests of Mr. J. McInerny; the table adorned in La Marque roses and smilax; Dr. C. B. High and Mr. William Roth entertained a coterie of friends, the color scheme for Senator and Mrs. Eric Knudsen was pink and green, a profusion of roses being used; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shingle entertained in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Campbell, Mrs. Southgate and Mr. Sinclair were the guests of honor at the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hartmeyer. The Richard Ivens were host and honored on this occasion. Governor and Mrs. Carter's table was arranged for a dozen guests. In the center of the table was a tall silver vase, filled with double red hibiscus, silver candlesticks with red shades, covered with filigree of silver was placed at the corners of the table. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gilman's guests were Miss Ewart, Mr. Robert Cattan, Miss Cordele, Miss Foster and Mr. Ewart. The English Consul Ralph G. Foster's table was much admired, large double white carnations and baby maiden hair ornamented the table. Among Mrs. Foster's guests were Admiral and Mrs. Cowles, Miss Edith Cowles, Captain and Mrs. C. Sidney Haist of the 5th Cavalry and others. Mr. E. Faxon Bishop entertained in honor of the Ernest Rosses. Mr. Frank E. Thompson entertained in honor of his fiancee, Miss Alice Roth; among his guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Dusenberg; the color scheme was scarlet. One of the liveliest and most enjoyable dinners was the party of eight that enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. L. Tenney Peck. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Forster, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas King, Miss Tillie Neumann, Mr. Veltlesen and the James Dougherty's were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. von Dammen; scarlet carnations formed a beautiful decoration at this table. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Isenberg gave a delightful dinner. After dinner the room was cleared, those who did not care to participate in the dancing.
